

our technology, your value

As the first company to introduce a SharePoint ECM solution to the market, Clearview brings a fresh approach to Enterprise Content Management (ECM). Clearview combines enterprise-class functionality with intuitive user experiences at a value point that is unprecedented in this market.

Clearview uniquely encapsulates SharePoint's native ECM capabilities for document management, email management, web content management, and forms management. Clearview then extends SharePoint's functionality with high-volume transactional document imaging, report management (COLD), and advanced workflow (business process management) in a highly-scalable, enterprise-class ECM solution.

Clearview is a 100% contemporary ECM solution. Our product innovation leverages the latest in technology advancements such as .NET, XML, SQL Server, SOA/Web Services, and Active Directory, to deliver rich, ECM functionality that fits within your Microsoft-based IT and desktop worker infrastructures with ease and simplicity.

Clearview information workers are provided with highly-intuitive, content-centric desktop user experiences in traditional Windows-based or AJAX/ASP.NET Web clients. These clients incorporate the new Office 2007 user experience via the context sensitive ribbon, along with other Outlook-type orientations to deliver a comprehensive Microsoft familiar experience across the desktop.

For maximum adoption and return on your ECM investment, our interfaces provide end users with rich functionality combined with advanced personalization attributes that make content elements relevant and meaningful to each individual worker's job, function, or operational role in the enterprise.

The next-generation Virtual ECM domain in brings content federation and aggregation services to the Microsoft platform to leverage existing investments you may have made in aging document solutions. The unified content services in Clearview deliver advanced information organization and tracking, security, audit logging, and other high-value content services and policies across the domain.
